Professional Bio

Tyler Enslin is a professional speaker, facilitator, and trainer with a passion for helping people turn valuable information into meaningful results. Since beginning his professional speaking career in 2012, Tyler has had the privilege of spending more than 5,000 hours speaking to live audiences and presenting at more than 1,500 events for a wide variety of audiences around the world. Today, he averages between 100-125 events each year, continually refining his approach and finding new ways to provide greater value to the people he serves.

At the heart of Tyler's work is a simple philosophy: a great presentation should be both educational and entertaining, but most importantly, it should be useful. Rather than filling presentations with information that sounds good but is difficult to apply, Tyler focuses on practical, actionable content that participants can take with them and use immediately.

Tyler's presentation style is one of the things that sets him apart. Whether delivering a 30-minute keynote or facilitating a full-day workshop, he presents without written notes or PowerPoint. This approach allows him to create a highly engaging and conversational environment while remaining organized and focused on the needs of the audience. Instead of simply talking to participants, he interacts with them, responds to the energy in the room, and creates an experience that feels personal and relevant.

His programs are intentionally developed with the participant in mind. Tyler believes that inspiring or entertaining stories, interesting facts, and personal experiences have their place in a well crafted presentation, but they are not enough on their own. His goal is to provide participants with realistic principles, practical strategies, and habits that can be applied in their professional and personal lives. The result is training that is engaging without unnecessary “fluff” and informative without becoming overwhelming.

Tyler also understands that every audience and event is different. His programs are available for in-person, hybrid, and virtual events, with content and delivery customized to fit each format. Whether working with a small group, professional association, corporate audience, or large event, he approaches each engagement with the same commitment to relevance, accessibility, and measurable value.

Professionalism and client service are also central to Tyler’s business. From the initial conversation through the completion of an event, clients receive prompt communication and support. His Booking Manager, Amanda Sebastiani, works closely with event organizers to manage scheduling, logistics, and administrative details, allowing Tyler to focus his attention on understanding the organization’s goals and delivering an exceptional presentation.

After more than a decade as a professional speaker, Tyler continues to approach every event as an opportunity to make a difference. His experience, engaging delivery, practical content, and participant-focused approach make him a speaker who not only captures an audience’s attention, but leaves them with ideas they can actually use.
